Open House Held Tues. At St. Joseph Academy

The gymnasium of St. Joseph Academy was filled to overflowing Tuesday night, despite the severe cold weather, by parents of students who attended the annual "Open House."

The object of this event each year is to acquaint the parents with the work their children are doing in the school, and to allow the parents to inspect classrooms and the convent generally.

The evening was opened with a program, with Msgr. Michael McCarthy, pastor of Our Lady of the Gulf Church as guest speaker. He chose for his subject the advantages enjoyed by students of such schools as St. Joseph's and the benefits parents derive by sending their children to such institutions of learning. A choral group composed of six high school students, and directed by the Rev. Father of St. Augustine's Seminary gave several vocal numbers. This was followed by a panel discussion by High School Students with their subject "Seeing God Through the Curriculum." The program closed with the entire audience singing the National Anthem.

Following the program a tour of the Convent was made with parents seeing the work done by their children displayed in their classrooms.

Annual Flea-Fly Charity Grid Class Slated at Stanislaus Stadium Sunday

Annual Flea-Fly Football game of St. Stanislaus School will be played Sunday, Dec. 4, at the starting time scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

This game, which has become a classic tradition at the school, was originated by the late Brother Peter, who was at that time the school's president.

The affair was sponsored primarily for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of Christmas Toys for underprivileged children of the county. For a number of years the program was carried on by the school, with a large Christmas tree celebration held on Christmas Eve for all underprivileged children, white and negro, of Hancock County receiving handsome gifts, fruits and candies.

This year the affair will be sponsored by the Pere LeDuc Council of the Knights of Columbus, acting under the auspices of the Faculty of St. Stanislaus, and is a memorial to the late Brother Peter.

Instead of giving toys to the children the proceeds will be used to purchase Christmas baskets for the needy of the county.

The program Sunday will start with a motorcade from St. Stanislaus to the Stadium.

At the Stadium the Colors will be presented by the American Legion immediately preceding the game.

Mayor John A. Scafide will act as Master of Ceremonies during the Half Time Ceremonies, at which time the Queen of the Classic and her Court will be presented. The identity of the Queen and her maids will be kept secret until the day of the game.

Tickets for the game are on sale at St. Stanislaus, St. Joseph Academy, Wilmer's Grocery and Waveland Drug Store, or may be had by calling Guy Drew at 384-M.

All automobiles participating in the parade will be decorated at St. Stanislaus prior to the game, and persons wishing their cars to be decorated to take part in the parade are requested to be at the College Grounds not later than 12:30 p.m. on Sunday.

Slated For 3-Night Run

'The Velvet Glove' Opens Tonite At Bay St. Louis Little Theatre

The much heralded Little Theatre production of Rosemary Cassey's three act comedy "The Velvet Glove" opens a three night engagement at the Boardman Ave. playhouse tonight at 8:15 p.m.

A private rehearsal of the play was held last Sunday evening in St. Joseph Academy for members of religious orders who otherwise would not have been able to see it.

The excellent cast includes Mayor John Scafide, Mrs. Lloyd Griffith, Mrs. Roy Wiggins, Mrs. Katie Ripple, Robert Lefler, Pat Horlock, Mrs. Philip Allison, Dr. Adrian Hava, Lloyd Griffith and Lucien Raymond.

The general public is invited to attend. Membership in the Little Theatre is not necessary. All you need is a dollar and a quarter and come early.

N. L. Carter, business manager of the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, is determined that every effort possible is made to assure comfort in the theatre for the patrons who will want to view "The Velvet Glove" this week.

With the extreme cold weather which set in Monday, Mr. Carter decided that weather stripping the theatre would assure more warmth for the building.

Every window and crack in the building, and there were many, particularly cracks, have been securely stripped to prevent the icy winds from entering.

The theatre will be heated early in the day to allow the building to be as warm as possible by curtain time.

With such precautionary measures being given, the Board of the Theatre feels that they can assure comfort and pleasure for the three nights the show will be presented.

Scene from the current Little Theatre production "The Velvet Glove". The play opens tonight and will continue through Saturday night.

Local Woman On TV

Mrs. Anna Palmisano, local resident of Ulman Ave., appeared on television Monday of this week on a request performance.

WDSU-TV in New Orleans came across some material on Mrs. Palmisano for her work in the world of music in the past. They found it so interesting that they requested her to appear on one of their programs.

For many years this talented woman was a professional musician, playing both organ and piano. She composed a number at the age of 13 which she titled "Some Class Waltz." Years later, the score was seen by someone connected with the old music house of Grune-wald in New Orleans, who persuaded the composer to allow them to send it to New York for publication.

This was done, and the number won a first place prize for being the best waltz among fifteen.

Mrs. Palmisano also had three publications from which the composer received handsome royalties.

Mrs. Palmisano played piano in the old silent moving picture days for several theatres in New Orleans. For many years she was the organist at the Crescent Theatre, where she was among the featured performers, a rare occurrence for her type of work. She opened each show, of the vaudeville house, with selections on the organ.

After her marriage when she moved to Bay St. Louis, she played a nine-piece orchestra. She was conductor and pianist of a group, which played for years for professional engagements.

She and her late husband operated a profitable can and candy business here.

Mrs. Palmisano and her husband were on the WDSU-TV program and were the first to be named as winners of the contest.

To Extradite Flink Killing Suspect

Extradition papers for Dale Morris, 31, Montana cowboy being held as a suspect in the slaying of Charles Flink Sr., were signed by Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana Monday.

Morris is being held in New Orleans. His arraignment is scheduled for Wednesday in Judge George P. Platt's section of criminal district court and a formal extradition hearing is set for Friday, according to assistant district attorney Edward E. Haggerty Jr.

Police in New Orleans arrested Morris at a motel Thursday for questioning in the fatal shooting of Flink.

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus to free Morris was dismissed in Judge J. Cleveland Fruge's special section of criminal district court Monday.

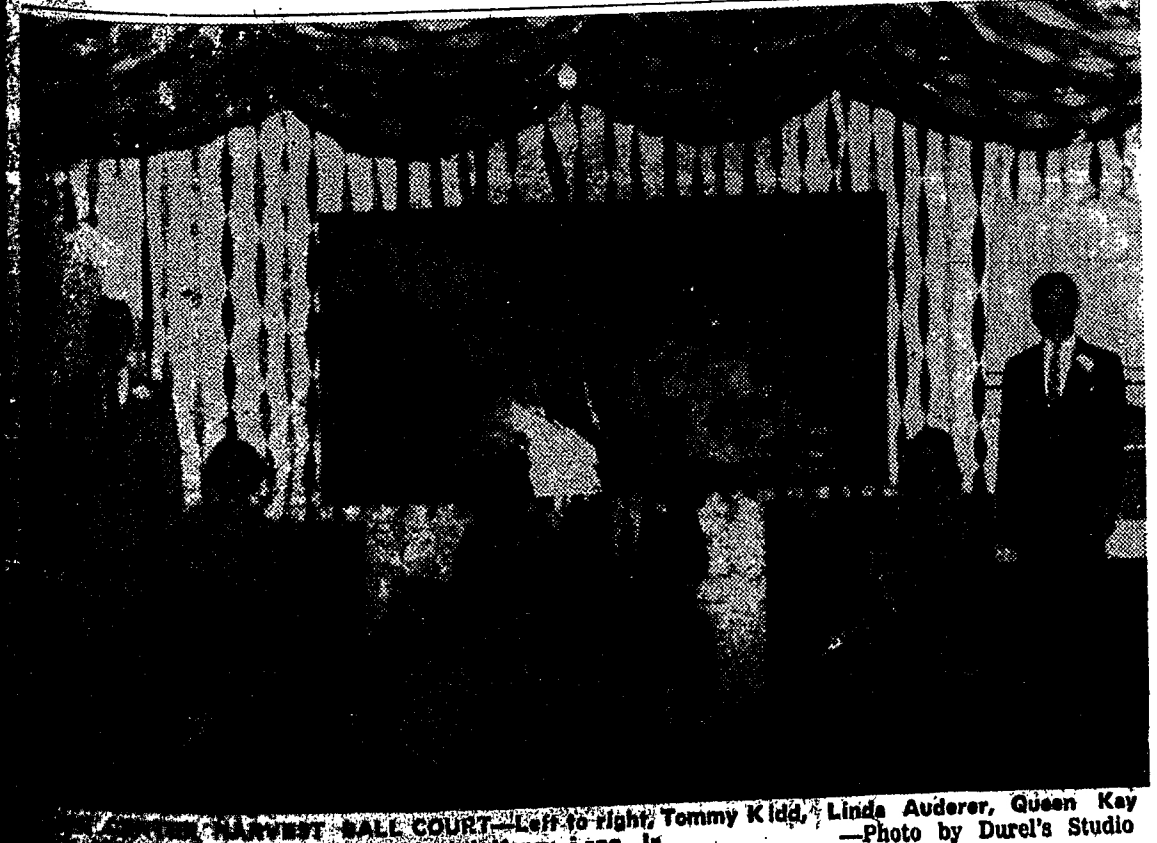

Morris is held in connection with the fatal shooting of Charles Flink Sr. in front of his home here Tuesday, Nov. 22. Morris has refused to return to Mississippi voluntarily.

Although Morris was arrested in connection with a Mississippi crime, he must plead to a Louisiana court on the fugitive charge.

Attorney Mark Sackett, who sought to free Morris on the ground he was held illegally on a vagrancy charge, withdrew his petition when the state filed fugitive charges.

It also has automatic shift and will be in the red, white and blue colors which are the new colors adopted by the Post Office Department.

You might have noticed the new uniforms being worn by the local mail carriers. Under new regulations, these uniforms are now furnished by the Post Office Department. Formerly the carriers were required to buy their uniforms from their personal funds.

DRIVING VESTIBLES

Two Pass Christian men were rescued from drowning Wednesday morning when their boat swamped near Three Oaks Bayou.
Alex Cunningham, Golf Pro of Pass Christian Golf Club and Floyd Brainard were in the water for over an hour after their boat swamped before a tug boat maneuvered by Captain Edward Normand Sr. of Brewton, Ala. and Clarence Schwartz, of Lakeshore, came along.

Brainard said that when the tug attempted to get close enough to them it ran aground, so Schwartz jumped from the tug boat into the water and pulled the two men out.

The tug was pulled from the bar on which it was stuck by a dredge working in the vicinity of Three Oaks Bayou and manned by D. Malone of Jackson.

The two men were taken to LaFrance Fishing Camp and then to Bayou Caddy where their car was parked.

Both were suffering from shock and exposure. They were taken to their homes and are reported all right.

Cunningham and Brainard, both past 60, agreed that they could not have survived the rough water and cold much longer had they not been rescued.

Polio Vaccination Urged By Official

The reporting of two new cases age 15-18, and 244 age 20 and of polio in the state Monday evening, this breakdown, substantiated by nation wide figures, shows a very significant chance of getting polio even up to 40 years of age, but the greatest chance in the age group 1-14.
In fact, at least one child that with increasing age, although the disease becomes less common, its severity increases into the young adult groups, and particularly in pregnant women.

Physicians have vaccine for those 1 through 14 years of age and pregnant women. As many people as possible should call on their physicians for this vaccination service, urges Dr. Gray.

Health departments are starting a program of vaccination now for those children in school grades 1 through 9 who have requested it on parental request forms. Although the supply of vaccine is still short of demand, it is anticipated that the supply will increase, according to Dr. Gray.

A SOUND SLEEPER

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Mrs. Jasper Smith reported to police that her husband fell asleep while the family's new radio-phonograph was playing and slept so soundly he did not hear a burglar walk into the house, unplug the player and carry it off.

Mrs. Smith was visiting neighbors when the theft occurred.

Driving's Exciting Again!

Greatest "Go" On Wheels
No other car performs like a Pontiac because Pontiac alone has the Strato-Streak V-8—most modern and efficient power plant in the industry. And for 1956 this great engine delivers 227 blazing horsepower so smoothly that it must be experienced to be believed. For the "go" of the year, go Pontiac.

Let's say you have just logged an extra-long day's mileage in your '56 Pontiac. Your clock tells you it's time to choose a lodging for the night.

Then it comes to you. You don't want to stop! You just want to keep on and on, piloting this sweet, singing beauty wherever fancy points.

Sound like a wonderful dream? It happens time and again to owners of this fabulous new car. And the lure that leads them on and on is the performance of Pontiac's great new Strato-Streak V-8... the most thrilling performance on the American highway.

Traffic's a delight in this agile car. Power flows smooth as oil when you leave a light, and with the sharp authority of 227 blazing "horses". Brakes respond with crisp, new certainty. The wheel answers fast as pointing your finger. You're driving with a confidence you've never felt before!

And highway touring is pure pleasure! You swing the curves with new sure-footed certainty... clear a high hill or sweep safely past a lottier with the happy assurance that you command the greatest "go" on wheels.

And when you settle down to cruising speed on an open highway—that's the real payoff on your good judgment! This is living in a wonderful new way. Driving's exciting again!

Come in and try it—you can prove it in 10 minutes as easily as in 10 hours. And you'll prove something else to yourself. Pontiac's glamour matches its "go"—it's the greatest on the road!

The Mississippi Oil and Gas Association, Inc. held its annual meeting here on Nov. 27 and 28.

Also elected to a second one-year term as President was E. L. Brunini, president of Vicksburg, and First Vice President was A. Vaughney, independent oil producer of Jackson.

Also elected by the association was E. D. Kenna, director of Jackson, who has served as Executive Vice President and director of the association's Jackson headquarters since 1945.

Elected to the newly created office of Secretary and Treasurer were Miss Melvin Ellis and William E. Spell, both of Jackson and employees of the association.

Area Officers
The 1956 slate of area vice presidents includes John Calton, independent oil operator of Natchez; James L. Duffy, Birmingham; president; Dennis Granberry, president of the Laurel Oil and Fertilizer Company, Laurel; Attorney Robert Lee Jones of Brookhaven and Frank Montague, Jr. of Hattiesburg; J. Finley McRae, president of the Merchants National Bank, Mobile; and Russ M. Johnson, vice president of the Deposit Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, Jackson.

Named to membership on the association Board of Directors were Earl E. Brown, Magnolia Petroleum Company, Dallas; Harry X. Bay, The Texas Company, New Orleans; Tom Caldwell, Humble Oil and Refining Company, Hattiesburg; Dee Davis, the California Company, New Orleans; George Gardner Green, Central Oil Company, Laurel; B. W. Haywood, Gulf Refining Company, Jackson; R. M. Hearin, Union Producing Company, Jackson; George C. Wallace, First National Bank, Jackson; and W. M. Vaughney of Jackson, independent oil producers.

The Mississippi Oil and Gas Association, Inc. was organized in 1924, to represent oil and gas producers in the state. It is the largest oil and gas industry association in the South.

At the Vicksburg meeting, oilmen pointed to the growing importance of Mississippi to the industry, and to the beneficial effect of their work on the general economy of the state. They estimate that in 1955 their expenditures for drilling, leases and royalties, payrolls, local purchases and taxes will pour about $100 million into the channels of Mississippi trade. Cumulative oil and gas industry expenditures in Mississippi total well over one billion dollars.

Notables on Program
The two day membership meeting of the Mississippi-Alabama Division, Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, at Vicksburg featured four Mississippi leaders who have attained national or international prominence.

Pronouncing invocations at major meeting functions were the Right Reverend Monsignor Joseph B. Brunini, J.C.D., V.G., pastor of St. Peter's Church in Jackson and president of the Catholic Hospital Association of the United States and Canada; and Tom Q. Ellis of Jackson, clerk of the Mississippi Supreme Court and international head of the Masonic Order.

Delivering the principal addresses of the meeting were Jackson Mayor Allen C. Thompson, president of the American Municipal Association; and W. M. Vaughney, independent oil producer of Jackson who is serving his second one-year term as president of the 13,000-member Independent Petroleum Association of America.

Those affiliated with Scouting may attend along with their husbands.

Our next meeting will be held in Our Lady of the Gulf Girl Scout House on the third Tuesday in January. Mrs. Leone Goodyear will show a film on Finance Troop Committee Training.

DESTINATION UNKNOWN
Out on the rifle range a tough old firing instructor stepped up to a green rookie whose misses were nothing short of spectacular.

"Son, where the blazes are your shots going?" he bellowed.

"I dunno," the rookie replied. "They're leaving this end all right."

"It's the little things in life that tell," said Dora as she dragged her kid brother out from under the sofa.

SSC's next dance, the Christmas Dance, will be December 15. Wonder who Hartwell will ask? Maybe the lucky girl will be S.M.

Forrest, Simpson, Sunflower, Clay Win United Gas Awards

STATE COLLEGE, Miss.—Four County 4-H Councils, each having been selected by Extension Service judges as the most outstanding in one of the state's four Extension Districts, will be presented cash awards by United Gas, sponsor of the 4-H Club Junior Leadership Training Program in Mississippi.

Winning recognition for their excellence during the 4-H Club year ended September 30 are the 4-H Councils of Clay County in the Northeast Extension District, Sunflower County in the Northwest District, Simpson County in the Southwest District and Forrest County in the Southeast District.

The Sunflower County 4-H Council also earned the honor in 1954 and thus tops the Northwest District for the second consecutive year.

Announcement of the winning councils in the statewide competition was made by State 4-H Club Leader C. I. Smith. He said the winners were selected by Extension Service judges on the basis of yearbooks, secretaries' records and "Stories of Achievement" submitted following the close of the 4-H Club year by competing councils.

In addition to public recognition of their service and achievements, Smith said each of the winning councils will receive a cash award which it may use for any 4-H activity. These awards are provided through United Gas sponsorship of the statewide 4-H Club Junior Leadership Training Program.

IN LINE TO LURE PLANTS TO STATE

Plants like the multi-million dollar Spencer Chemical Company anhydrous ammonia installation at Vicksburg are helping to prove that Mississippi is ideally situated to serve this rapidly growing Southern industry.

will purchase the bulk of the products turned out by Pontiac. The development of synthetic fibers in the South in relatively recent years has indirectly boosted the Texas-Louisiana Gulf Coast chemical industry. Mississippi, lying adjacent to this synthetic fiber producing area and half-way between the petrochemical raw materials and the textile industry of the Southeast which uses them, is considered by chemical authorities to be a natural for future expansion of synthetics.

The presence of 48 salt domes, which have been discovered in South Mississippi to date, plus the existence of a number of other minerals suitable for chemical industry use offer additional inducements for new and branch operations.

Although Mississippi still depends to a large measure on cotton for its livelihood, diversified crops and a fast developing livestock and dairy industry is providing an increasingly large number of other raw materials suitable for chemical processing.

Mississippi's livestock industry offers potentials for leather manufacture and raw materials for the production of gelatin, glue and soap. The production of tallow, lard and other by-products is expected to increase as a result of expansion in meat packing facilities.

Mississippi's dairy industry also is a source of raw materials for the production of lactose, lactic acid and casein.

The tung nut, of which Mississippi is the nation's largest producer, offers unlimited opportunity for processing of its oil into paints, varnishes, lacquers and even into medicinal products. The cottonseed, soybean and certain grains also offer the manufacturer potentially good raw materials, and even the cotton stalk may have potential as a raw material because of its high content of cellulose.

The forests of Mississippi have for a number of years offered sufficient drawing power to attract a number of paper, pulp and wood using industries such as International Paper, Johns-Manville, Masonite, Flitkote, U. S. Gypsum, Hercules and others.

More than half of Mississippi's 30,000,000 acres is forest land, the equivalent of the states of Vermont, New Hampshire and Massachusetts. The fact that Mississippi is today the second largest pulpwood producer, and first in hardwood is sufficient evidence of its importance to industries needing this raw material.

Waste from logging operations and the state's more than 1,000 saw mills may one day attract chemical manufacturers interested in pulp, wood flour, charcoal, activated carbon, tannin, wood molasses, alcohols and acetates. Problems involving the utilization of these wastes today are economic rather than technical, but these obstacles may one day be overcome.

One of Mississippi's great attractions for the chemical industry is the presence of large quantities of surface and underground water for supply and waste disposal.

The state not only has eight major rivers with 1,000,000 gallon daily capacity each, but borders the Mississippi River with a capacity of 8-billion gallons daily. Mississippi's stream pollution laws serve as protection for the industry and in half of conservation.

The state's opportunities for continued growth in chemicals manufacturing are strengthened by a good supply of fuels and power, and excellent transportation facilities. Natural gas is available in 244 cities and towns in the state. In addition, seven major pipe lines transport gas across the state from Louisiana and Texas fields. Power is distributed by two private utilities and the Tennessee Valley Authority. All distribution systems are tied to out-of-state sources of supply to assure a continued, uninterrupted supply.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Safety
Cool weather has brought "Killer Coal Oil" out of his partial summer hibernation.

Make sure that he doesn't visit your farm home. Never use kerosene or coal oil to start or boost fires in heaters, ranges or open fire places. Play it safe. Keep flammable liquids in their proper places.

Here are some rules for handling gasoline and other petroleum products on your farm:

1. Never draw or handle flammable liquids near open flame or other source of ignition.
2. If necessary to bring gasoline inside buildings, use a safety container, not more than one gallon and label in red. Use a different type container with an other colored label for kerosene.
3. Never refuel a gasoline motor while it is hot.

Swine
A steady supply of hogs for market all through the year can mean more money to Mississippi hog producers.

A system of multiple farrowing which will help producers realize this goal. Many farmers will find Thinking of going to the business of producing eggs for market? It can be profitable. Mississippi is a deficit producing state and there is a need for more commercial eggs.

Commercial egg production can be a practical and profitable part of just about any balanced farm and home program. However, careful planning and consideration should be given this business before getting in.

First, do you like to work with chickens? If not, don't do it. Are you going to take care of them yourself, or go off and leave the chores to the hired help? If you are not going to do the work yourself, don't try to produce eggs commercially.

To make more from egg production, you have to like chickens and you have to give them some special attention.

Check your available markets. Are there other producers in your area with whom you can get together to build a better volume and get a more favorable market?

Divine Word Missionaries at St. Mary's Mission, Vicksburg, Miss.
The Very Rev. Robert E. Fagg, SVD, Provincial, at St. Augustine, Seminole, has been called to the Catholic clergy in the United States, who number some 40,000. It is not known if a similar drive has been launched or is being planned for Catholic laymen.

Father R. M. Wilgert, SVD, public relations director for Divine Word Missionaries, said the appeal is in no way connected with the Catholic clergy in the United States, who number some 40,000. It is not known if a similar drive has been launched or is being planned for Catholic laymen.

The name "Techy" is often used by the public to identify the Divine Word Mission Seminary in Techny, Ill.

The Divine Word Missionaries sell Christmas cards under their own name, said Father Wilgert, not under the name "Catholic Greetings, Box 5, Techny, Ill."

Moving Air!

CONTROL IT!
STOP Destructive Cooking GREASE, HEAT and STEAM at the STOVE
Vent-A-Hood
KEEPS THEM FROM SPREADING!

Make a simple bacon frying test on your stove. With no hood, wall or ceiling fan, your walls and ceiling will have to be your hood... your doors and windows your vents. In seconds your kitchen is hotter and visible grease vapors cloud the room. Bacon is detected in every room and this vapor-odor becomes a rancid film on woodwork, walls and furnishings.

Now imagine a half hood (not covering the skillet) with this hot, buoyant grease racing past it. Imagine a wall fan attempting to deflect this rapidly rising hot vapor! A ceiling fan gets the real challenge because when greasy cooking vapor has risen that high it has saturated the room air... filling the entire room.

How clearly is seen the need for a full covering Vent-A-Hood to TRAP and CONSUME cooking heat, grease and steam before they spread. Vent-A-Hood removes 300 cu. ft. of hood-trapped hot, greasy vapors every cooking minute. It is providing positive, CONTROLLED ventilation in over 325,000 homes. Vent-A-Hood will thoroughly protect your home from cooking grease... its worst enemy.

Use Santa Claus, Don't Abuse Him

By John J. Kane, University of Notre Dame

SANTA CLAUS can be a real danger. True, he is a symbol of the joy and happiness of the holiday season. But we can become "fired" at the Santa Claus level and have yet to the higher meaning of Christmas; the birth of Christ.

No child can entirely appreciate what the Nativity means. So we tie up the joys of Christmas with ordinary pleasures and events such as giving presents and the like.

The young child first learns that Christmas is a joyous season. He understands the real reason why when he moves from Santa Claus to the mystery of Bethlehem.

BUT THE CHILD, and grown-ups too, can forget to associate Santa Claus and the joys of Christmas with the birth of our Saviour—the real cause of Christmas joy. Instead the tendency is to disassociate Christ from Christmas.

In some communities every year, objections are raised to Nativity plays in public schools. The symbol of Christmas, the Infant Jesus, is obscured by scotties dogs and blizzards that would terrify viewers if they were not on cards. "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful" gives way to "I Saw Mama Kissing Santa Claus."

NOW SANTA CLAUS, mistle-

toe, Holly, even scotties dogs and blizzards, have their place in Christmas, if they would stay in it. They should add to, not subtract from, the theme of Christmas; the birth of Christ.

Protesting against Santa Claus won't bring Christ to Christmas. But through Santa Claus we can get to the real meaning of the holiday. My own child told me how to do it.

ONE CHRISTMAS EVE we were putting the manger under the tree. My little girl was "helping," talking to the statue of Mary and the Infant Jesus. Suddenly she blurted out, "Daddy, did the Infant Jesus hang up a stocking and did He get toys?"

At first this seemed like blasphemy, linking Santa Claus with the Infant. Now I regard it as almost genius. I told her that without Christ, the Infant Jesus, there would have been no Christmas, and without Christmas there would be no Santa Claus. It wasn't a very good explanation, but my little girl's last words as she fell asleep were, "Jesus, He came first didn't He, Daddy?"

OF COURSE it isn't always as easy as this and we don't often get our children's help in such matters. But we do have a challenge: to take the customs that surround Christmas in with vigor and consistency, but it is certain that the only chance of successful defense against such an attack is a guided-missile attack utilizing rocket missiles aimed by radar and equipped with radar homing-in devices.

The heavy guided missile, which operates a battery of directed anti-aircraft guided missiles, has been commissioned by the Navy at Philadelphia. The Boston is the first robot weapons warship to be commissioned by the Navy.

The guided missile fired by the Boston can track down enemy aircraft and destroy them most of the time. Captain Charles V. Martell, commanding officer of the Boston, has revealed that the guided missiles on the Boston have a range up to twenty miles or more.

The Boston is not a new warship. She is a veteran of World War II, having served in the Pacific, and has been under commission for the last three years.

Her commissioning is significant because her guided missiles follow a radar beam and home-in with the aid of a radar unit contained in the missile itself. The missile is estimated to have a supersonic speed of about 1,700 miles an hour.

It is obvious that when the US Navy has a sufficient fleet of guided missile weapons warships, the most dreaded form of attack from the air—atomic attack—will not necessarily get through to vital targets afloat.

Only a war can finally determine whether huge warships can thus be protected from enemy aircraft, which press home an attack with vigor and consistency, but it is certain that the only chance of successful defense against such an attack is a guided-missile attack utilizing rocket missiles aimed by radar and equipped with radar homing-in devices.

CRUSADE FOR FREEDOM AIDES ARE NAMED FOR STATE

Frank Chambers, State Chairman of the Crusade for Freedom, announced today the appointment of seven State Vice-Chairmen to assist in conducting the Crusade for Freedom Drive for the current year.

The following prominent Mississippians were named:

Boyd Campbell of Jackson, President of the National Chamber of Commerce; Rex Brown of Jackson, District Rotary Governor; Alex McKeigney of Jackson, State Tax Commissioner; Mrs. A. A. Bush, Laurel, State President of the American Legion Ladies Auxiliary; Jeff Williams of Lexington, State Chairman of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Derwood Boyles of Jackson, President of the Mississippi Farm Bureau.

Chambers also announced that the main effort on the Crusade for Freedom fund-raising drive would be made during the month of February between Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays.

The Crusade for Freedom supports Radio Free Europe in its fight to carry the truth behind Baxter Wilson, president of the Mississippi Power & Light Company, congratulating the winners of the 1955 4-H scholarships awarded annually by MP&L to the state boy and girl with the best records in the 4-H farm and home electric project.

The recipients seen with Mr. Wilson are Marjorie Dale Payne, (left) Rolling Fork, now a freshman at MSCW, and Frank Millard Raymond, Rt. 3, Jackson, a student at Madison High School.

The scholarships, amounting to $300 each, may be used for studies at any state school of the student's choice.

The awards were presented at the 11th annual 4-H breakfast sponsored by the Mississippi Power & Light Company in the Victory Room of the Heidelberg Hotel. In addition to the prizes the company also presented the eight winners and an all-expense trip to the 4-H Roundup in electric projects.

The MP&L contribution to 4-H farm and home electric project is carried out annually in operation with the Extension Services.

who have consented to aid in the Crusade for Freedom drive this year in Mississippi," Chambers said, "and trust that every citizen of our State will contribute generously to help carry on this fight against Communism."

Ted Perry Jr., who was President of Boy Scouts of America in Kergo, this year in the Thanksgiving home. Ted is student at University in Texas.

HANCOCK GRAMMAR SCHOOLS FORM CASE CONFERENCE

Gulfview School of Lakeshore was the scene of the organizational meeting for a Grammar School Basketball Conference for boys and girls. Representatives from Bay High, St. Joseph Academy, St. Stanislaus, Gulfview, Logtown, Leetown, Sellers and Aaron Academy made initial plans and stated the purpose of the organization: to facilitate the scheduling of games; to govern the eligibility of players; and to prepare participants for high school competition.

For the year 1958-59 Brother Philip, SC, of St. Stanislaus was elected president, T. C. Jackson of Aaron Academy vice president, and Mrs. Elaine Colson of St. Joseph Academy, secretary-treasurer. The officers were chosen to draw up by-laws which would be proposed to the entire group for approval at the next meeting December 1st at Lakeshore. Member teams will pay dues of $5 per year. A fee of $7.50 is required of each new member, who must be approved by the original membership.

Eligible students must not be more than 16 years of age by Jan. 1. However, this regulation will become effective in September, 1959.

Students who fail two major subjects (English, math or a social study) also will be disqualified. Officers and members feel sure that this effort to promote interest in sports among the grammar school students will prove to be a worthwhile investment of time in our youth.

CIRCUS PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ducomb were hosts on Saturday afternoon at their lovely estate on Jordan River, "Huckleberry Hill," when they entertained members of the pre-teen set at a circus party, honoring their daughter, Cheryl, on the occasion of her 12th birthday.

The lawn near the house was gay with circus tents, balloons of varying shapes and multicolored strung on wires, pennants and flags, setting a scene depicting the gay carnival. Children were resplendent in costumes of circus people. Clowns, bareback riders, animals and trainers were all part of the festive group. The little honoree wore the costume of a gypsy fortune teller, with a green satin skirt, gay yellow silk blouse, and turban, and bangle bracelets and necklaces galore, so beloved by the gypsy women.

Refreshments carried out the motif of the party. Hot dogs, pink lemonade, popcorn and peanuts, plus the traditional birthday cake aglow with lighted candles.

About twenty little girls and boys enjoyed the gala party.

Mrs. Ruth Luderbach returned this week from a two week visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Capt. Keith Thrash, USAF, and Mrs. Thrash at their Arkansas home. Enroute home, Mrs. Luderbach visited relatives in Shreveport, La.

SUPREME FOREST WOODMEN HOLD THANKSGIVING FEATS

A Thanksgiving Banquet, held recently at the Reed Hotel, was enjoyed by about thirty members of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, Grove 87, of Bay St. Louis.

The dining table was resplendent with arrangements of fruits and flowers, and a dinner including the proverbial turkey and served in courses from cocktail through dessert was served the guests.

In addition to the members, guests included Mrs. Lesage Branch of Biloxi, Mrs. C. Caslee, Mrs. Tina Spahn and Mrs. Rosa Bonnell of New Orleans, and Mrs. Townsend Wolfe, Mrs. Mildred Piazza, Mrs. W. Johns and Miss Mae Parrillo of Bay St. Louis. A large birthday cake, decorated in the lavender and green colors of the circle was presented to the Groves President, Mrs. Anna Palmisano, as the affair was held on her birthday. The Circle also presented her with a three strand necklace of pearls. Each person present received a present from the president. Following the dinner, an evening of music and games was enjoyed.

HOME FOR THANKSGIVING

Home for the Thanksgiving Holidays from Mississippi Southern College at Hattiesburg were Miss Dorothy Larroux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Larroux, Miss Kinta Kergosien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurent Kergosien, Miss Maureen Mitchell, Miss Honore Damborno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Damborno, Don Crasto, Humphrey Kersene and Charles Carter Jr.

'TRIAL' AT DRIVEIN SUNDAY & MONDAY

"Trial," MGM's filmization of the Harper's Prize-Winning novel by Don M. Mankiewicz, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Hi-Way Drive-In Theatre with an important cast headed by Glenn Ford, Dorothy McGuire, Arthur Kennedy, John Hodiak and Katy Jurado.

The author of the best-seller novel, which won a $10,000 award over 885 contestants, also wrote the screen play of the motion picture version, which tells a taut and suspenseful story of a young university instructor in law who gets his first taste of real criminal law practice when he defends a Mexican youth on trial for the murder of a high school girl.

In doing so he is caught in a maze of gripping circumstances involving the double-crossing lawyer with whom he is associated, the District Attorney who opposes him, and the hysterical mother of the accused youth.
